

ChicagoHistoryMuseum

Hot Dog Memories

READ:

Chicago Style Hot Dogs have become a well-known part of Chicago's food history. In restaurants, museums, in the parks, at sporting events, you can often find a hot dog nearby in Chicago. Use the cards on the next pages to find out more about Chicago's Hot Dog History and play a game of memory!

For more about Hot Dogs, read or listen to "Hot Dog" <http://chicagohistoryresources.org/greatchicagostories/culture/index.html>

DO:

- Look at the captions to find out more about the picture.
- Cut out each of the cards, you should have two of each picture! If you have construction paper glue/tape the cards down to make them more sturdy. If you can't print, draw the pictures on cards that are the same size and cut them out.
- Play memory with a family member or by yourself. Lay the cards out in a 4 by 4 card square — picture side down. If you play by yourself time your game and see how fast you can get!
- Choose your favorite image and write a story about it.

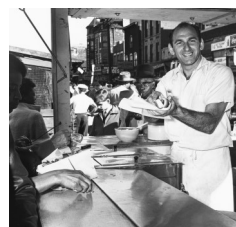

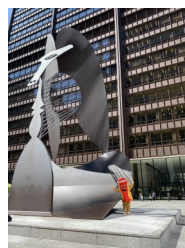

Approx. Time: 30—45 minutes

Materials:

- ⇒ Memory images on following pages
- ⇒ Scissors
- ⇒ Glue/Tape
- ⇒ Construction Paper
- ⇒ Paper/Pencil

SHARE:

- Tell your story to your family!
- Post your story or fastest time on Twitter or Instagram with the hashtag #CHMatHomeFamilies.

ICHI-024739

A group of women at the White City Amusement Park in Chicago enjoy some hot dogs, circa 1920.

Photo by CHM Staff

CHM Mascot Noah Ketchup on a visit to the Chicago Picasso in 2019.

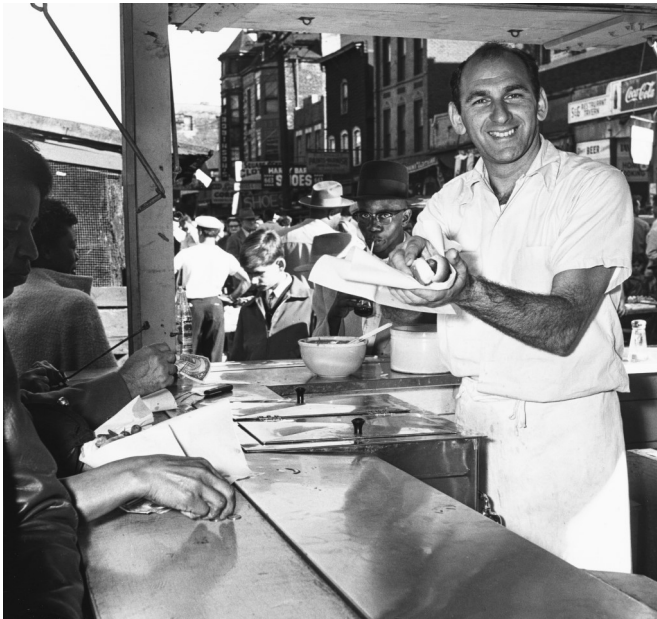

ICHI-039261

Two construction workers outside a hot dog stand, Chicago 1987.

ICHI-039263

A group of children stand outside Pop's Place hot dog stand in Roger's Park.

ICHi-034424

Hot dogs for sale at the Maxwell Street Market, Maxwell Street and Union Street, Chicago, 1955.

ICHi-093972

The Vienna Sausages Concession was in the Austrian Village on the Midway at the 1893 World's Fair. This company became Vienna Beef.

ICHi-040062

Woman making hot dogs at an Oscar Mayer circa 1955.

SDN-069816

Chicago White Sox players eating hot dogs at a hot dog stand at Comiskey Park in Chicago, 1930.

ICHI-024739

A group of women at the White City Amusement Park in Chicago enjoy some hot dogs, circa 1920.

Photo by CHM Staff

CHM Mascot Noah Ketchup on a visit to the Chicago Picasso in 2019.

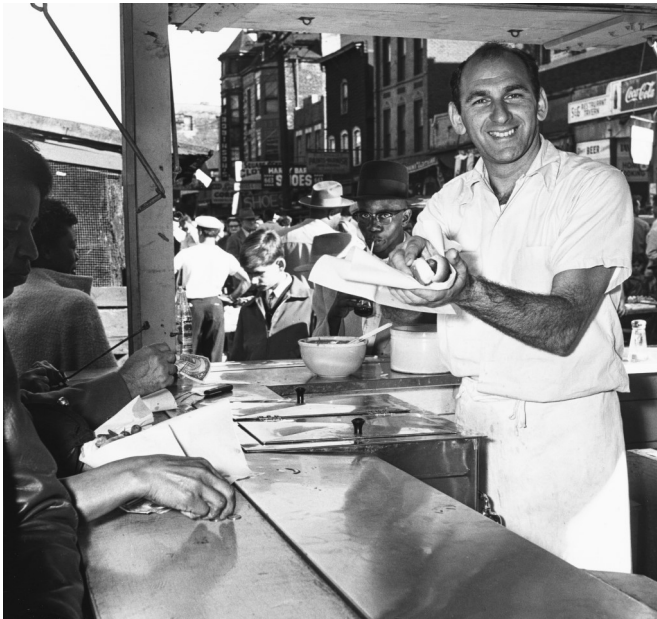

ICHI-039261

Two construction workers outside a hot dog stand, Chicago 1987.

ICHI-039263

A group of children stand outside Pop's Place hot dog stand in Roger's Park.

ICHi-034424

Hot dogs for sale at the Maxwell Street Market, Maxwell Street and Union Street, Chicago, 1955.

ICHi-093972

The Vienna Sausages Concession was in the Austrian Village on the Midway at the 1893 World's Fair. This company became Vienna Beef.

ICHi-040062

Woman making hot dogs at an Oscar Mayer circa 1955.

SDN-069816

Chicago White Sox players eating hot dogs at a hot dog stand at Comiskey Park in Chicago, 1930.