IF ONLY THE CASTLE COULD TALK! AND MAYBE IT CAN!

Through the research of Errol Magidson, the author and documentary filmmaker of “Chicago’s Only Castle,” this iconic building, which was built in 1886, comes to life along with its keepers. There have been only five “keepers” since its construction and maybe a few ghosts?

Each Castle keeper was important. The inspiration and first resident was Robert C. Givins. His grandfather is a celebrated Canadian hero of the War of 1812. The keepers were involved in the Chicago World’s Fair of 1893, the cable-car era, the dawn of the automobile, the World’s Fair of 1933-34, World War II, and the Civil Rights Movement.

This MULTIMEDIA PRESENTATION is a real history and architecture buff’s delight!
