III. WRITE YOUR OWN THESIS in FIVE STEPS (and lots of research!)

1. Theme: ____________________________
2. Narrow topic: ______________________
3. Historical Question: ________________________________

4. WORKING THESIS. Based on the research so far, consider your answer to the historical question. Keep in mind the change and its impact.
________________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________________

5. FINAL THESIS! After more research and analysis, revise the working thesis (if necessary) and now add why it matters. “As a consequence….” (or) “Because of…” Write it in two-three sentences:
________________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________________

NEXT: outline how you will convince us of your argument! (Use HF worksheets “Argument Plan” or “Organizing Your Argument”)
